SUGAR SENT HERE BY C. D. KENNY CO.

Investigation Discloses Car Load Was Not Bought by Three Local Grocers as Stevens Said.

SOLD TO GROCERYMEN HERE

One Dealer Stops Buying it When Price Goes Up While in Storage—No H. C. L. Inquiry Today.

Because of Squire Stech being out of the city today, the high cost of sugar investigation was at a standstill. The information given out yesterday afternoon by Prosecutor Stevens about the grocers entering the city and purchasing a car load of sugar, caused quite a stir among local grocers, and today further information was sought.

On June 15, 1919, the C. D. Kenny company of Indianapolis, sent to Rushville a car load of sugar, which was stored in a warehouse, back of Sam Finney's on Third street. Samuel Finney rented out the warehouse for that particular purpose, and was authorized to take orders for delivery among the local grocers, subject to the invoice of the Kenny company.

This sugar was to be delivered to the local grocers by the Elsbury Pea line, to any grocer who had dealt with the Kenny Company. The information given out yesterday was obtained, according to Prosecutor Stevens, today, from one of the drivers, who maintained that he delivered the sugar to only three grocers, and he supposed the sugar was sold for them exclusively.

It was learned today that several grocers got some of this sugar and he in particular took what was left. July, of 15 barrels, thus finishing up the carload, with the exception of eight bags of brown sugar which he also bought.

Prosecutor Stevens stated that while this was going on, the smaller grocers were unable to buy sugar in any big amounts. One grocer today stated that the purpose of this storage was to make sugar cheaper, so that it saved freight from Indianapolis. It was learned, however, from one grocer, who bought twice as much as the others, that he had

ORDERS DEALERS TO REFUND OVERCHARGE

Federal Sugar Distributor For Indiana Says Retailers and Wholesalers Are Effected.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY WILL AID

(By United Press.) Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 20.—Stanley Wyckoff, federal sugar distributor for Indiana, today issued an order requiring wholesalers and retailers who have been charging more than the government price for sugar, immediately to refund the overcharge under penalty of being barred from handling sugar.

The order came as a result of a telegram to Washington by Wyckoff asking authority to act. He received the reply, stating that the district attorney had authority to revoke the licenses of dealers making the overcharge.

District Attorney Slack told Wyckoff today his office will cooperate fully in the matter. Refunds by dealers must be made upon presentation of invoices showing more than the regular price has been charged. Should the dealer refuse to make refunds, Wyckoff has asked purchasers to forward the invoices and other information to him and he will turn the facts over to Slack for action.

The department of justice recently fixed eleven cents as the retail price of sugar.

IS DISCUSSED IN ENGLAND

U. S. Plan to Increase Army And Its Bearing on League.

(By United Press.) London, Aug. 20.—The undercurrent of discussion over America's plans to increase her peace time army and institute compulsory service has been brought to a head in England by Lloyd George's warning that if those who "promote the league of nations increase their armaments the league will be a sham."

Opponents of the league say the plans of the United States to increase her army may wreck the league and shatter European confidence in America. Supporters claim America is as much entitled to maintain her peace-time army as England is her navy.

EMBODIES IDEAS OF THE PRESIDENT

Resolutions Regarding Interpretations of Peace Treaty Introduced in Senate Today

SENATOR PITTMAN AUTHOR

Says He Did This to Settle Controversy Over Reservations and Interpretations of Past

(By United Press.) Washington, Aug. 20.—Senator Pittman, Nevada, today introduced a resolution carrying out President Wilson's idea of interpretations of the peace treaty separate from the resolution of ratification.

Pittman a democratic member of the foreign relations committee and a strong supporter of the treaty, said he did this to settle at once the controversy over reservations and interpretations.

President Wilson had before him today a series of twenty written questions in regard to the peace treaty, submitted by Senator Fall, of New Mexico, Republican member of the foreign relations committee.

The questions which were submitted to the President at the close of the conference yesterday and which he agreed to answer after study were in regard to the possibility of declaring the war at the end prior to senate ratification of the treaty, the disposition of Germany's former colonial possessions and the reasons for American participation on the various reconstruction commissions created by the treaty.

President Wilson's interpretation of the effect of the league of nations covenant on the United States is being much discussed by senators and is certain to be the subject of much debate in the upper branch before the treaty is finally disposed of there.

The covenant, he declared, imposes no legal obligation for the use of American military force in protecting the territory or independence of any other nation. However, he added, the covenant might involve, in certain circumstances, an "absolutely compelling moral obligation."

FOR VIOLATING FOOD ACT

Walter Sheeham Arrested for Making Unfair Profit on Sugar

(By United Press.) Chicago, Aug. 20.—Walter Sheeham, president of the Central Sugar company, was arrested here today on charges of violating the federal food control act. The complaint against Sheeham alleges unfair profit in sugar sales. It is alleged the company bought sugar in Philadelphia for $9.56 and sold it for $12.50. The sugar finally reached the retailer at $13.50.

READY TO PAY FORMER SOLDIERS

Adjutant General Smith Says he Has Receipts and Will Reimburse Men For Equipment.

LISTS MUST BE SUPPLIED

Dr. L. M. Green Preparing One for Sanitary Unit—Other Must Await Capt. Kiplinger's Return

Harry B. Smith, adjutant general of the state, is ready to reimburse members of old Company B and the sanitary detachment, which organizations were absorbed in the organization of the 139th Field Artillery at Camp Shelby, Miss., in the amounts they paid for their equipment when they enlisted, providing he can get a list of clothing issued to each man, according to a letter received today by T. M. Green, who has been negotiating with the adjutant general for some time regarding the matter.

Dr. Lowell M. Green, who was a captain in the 129th sanitary detachment, is preparing a list of equipment for which his men paid, and will supply it to the adjutant general. He in turn will sign the receipts, and after each man signs his receipt the state will pay the money.

The settlement with men who enlisted in Company B and paid for their equipment, will have to await the return of Captain John H. Kiplinger, who is in France and who has the only list of supplies for which the men paid. There is no certainty when Capt. Kiplinger will be home, although he was expected before this time.

It will be recalled that agitation was started by the Rush County Council of Defense, while the Rush county boys were still at Camp Shelby, to have them reimbursed, when it was learned that they had paid for their uniforms and other equipment upon enlisting. The last legislature appropriated the necessary money and receipts have been printed ready to make the settlement.

Adj. Gen. Smith says in his letter:

"I have your letter of August 18, regarding the matter of clothing which the members of the Rushville Company, B of the 4th, later Battery A of the 139th F. A., have had up with you, and replying would say that we have receipts all in printed form for the men to sign."

ARMY FOOD SALE TO BE CONTINUED

Time Limit is Extended, According to Instructions Received by Postmaster Hunt.

TUESDAY'S SALES ARE LESS.

The sale at the postoffice yesterday of the surplus government food, was not as great as the first day, and there was not near as much bacon sold as it was thought would be. Only two items on the entire list have been sold out, they were the cherries, which went the first day, and the number two sized baked beans, which were sold out yesterday.

The original instructions were that the sale would last three days, making today the last, but the time limit has been extended, and anyone who is contemplating the purchase of the surplus food, can do so by getting their order in as soon as possible, as the government may at any time stop the sale.

REQUIRES DEPOSIT TO TEAR UP STREET

Resolution Adopted by Council Provides Thoroughfares Shall be Left in Same Condition

POLICEMAN HAVENS RESIGNS

Fire Committee, Which Was to Report on Investigation Regarding Truck, Granted More Time

About the only thing of any consequence that came up before the city council last evening was a discussion on how people who had made sewer taps and otherwise torn up the streets, had placed the street back in shape after the work was completed, and the council finally adopted a resolution making the applicant for a permit to deposit $200, which would insure the city that the street would be repaired properly.

The attention of the council was called to many instances in the city where property owners had been given permits to dig in the streets, and that after the work was completed, the street would be left in a miserable condition. One particular place was cited as being in Jackson street, a few houses north of Fifth.

Street Commissioner Havens was asked about the people digging in the streets, and he said that he had watched the digging but that he did not have time to stand over all of them and see that the dirt was placed back right. He was instructed by the council to notify all property owners where digging had been done and the street left in a bad shape, that it should be repaired, and if not done so, the work would be done by the city and charged up to the property owners.

Councilman Seidler presented a resolution which was passed, asking that property owners or contractors who wished permits to dig in the streets, and to obstruct the streets in any manner, to deposit a sum of from $50 to $200, so that the street could be placed in the right kind of repair, and so that upon failure of the person getting the permit to do so, the city would be protected.

The police committee presented the resignation of Policeman Frank Havens which was accepted. Policeman Havens has been on the force for two and a half years and gave poor health as his reason for quitting. During his service for the city, he has made a great many arrests.

GUARD PLANT AFTER RIOTING BY STRIKERS

Four Companies of Soldiers Control Packing Plants at Cudahy, Near Milwaukee, Today.

RIOT IS CAUSE OF ONE DEATH

(By United Press.) Milwaukee, Aug. 20.—Four companies of soldiers stood guard today in the packing town of Cudahy, scene of rioting late yesterday.

At 4:30 this morning a special train rolled into the yards, carrying 460 state guards and 16 officers who took charge of the situation, closing every entrance and exit. Access to the plant can be gained only by military pass.

Thirty-five young women, members of the office force, were quarantined in the plant last night.

One of the first military orders was closing of all saloons. Four companies of state guards were called last evening when a strike riot resulted in the death of one man, injury by shooting of eight others and wounding of a score of others by blows and flying missiles.

IS BITTEN ON LEG BY A DOG

Russell Bebout, Just Recovering From Blood Poisoning, Not Badly

Russell Bebout, 1027 North Maple street, was bitten on the leg by a dog this morning while looking at some stock on the Elmer Guffin farm east of Rushville. Although the injury is not expected to prove serious, Mr. Bebout sought medical aid at once because he is just now recovering from a serious case of blood poisoning caused by being bitten by a stallion several months ago. He was attacked by the stallion and his arm was badly lacerated and his shoulder blade dislocated before the animal could be driven off.

BANDIT HUNT IS RESUMED TODAY

Four Troops of 8th U. S. Cavalry, With Rescued Airmen as Guides Continue Search in Mexico.

REINFORCED BY FOUR PLANES

Only Contact With Mexicans Reported by Aviator Who Returned Wings of Ship Riddled.

(By United Press.)

El Paso, Texas, Aug. 21.—Four troops of the 8th U. S. cavalry, reinforced by four more airplanes, resumed their hunt again today for the Mexican bandits who kidnapped Lieutenants Peterson and Davis, army aviators.

After a night spent in a fruitless tramp on barren wastes, the American troopers, led by Capt. Matlack, and with the two rescued aviators as guides, kept up the almost hopeless chase. A cloudburst had obliterated the trail.

The only contact reported with Mexicans was by the pilot of one plane which returned to Marfa with bullet riddled wings. Three Mexicans fired on the machine and the observer replied with a machine gun, killing one Mexican, the flier believes.

Marfa, Tex., Aug. 20.—Somewhere in Mexico, opposite Candalaria, Tex., American soldiers today continued the pursuit begun yesterday of bandits who captured and held for ransom Lieutenants Peterson and Davis, American aviators, rescued yesterday after payment of $8,500 gold to the bandit leader.

Military headquarters here was without information from the punitive expedition, heavy storms in the mountains of Chihuahua interrupting communication via the army's field telephones.

Possibility that the American soldiers already have had their first skirmish with the bandits was indicated last night when two aviators returned to the American side with bullet holes in the plane of their machine and a report that they had been attacked by three Mexicans, one of whom they believed they killed with machine gun bullets.

Another was believed to have been wounded and the third put to flight. First reports stated that the cavalry was in pursuit of the remaining bandit, but communication was interrupted and no further word came from the punitive force.

Four airplanes which arrived

DISCUSS PLANS FOR AFFILIATION

Officers and Members of Rush County Farmers Association Meet District Director Here

STATE ORGANIZER HERE ALSO

President of Indiana Body Points to Trip to Washington as Need For Organization of Farmers

Officers and members of the Rush County Farmers' association were to lay plans this afternoon for affiliation with the State Federation of Farmers' associations. L. M. Vogler of Hope, director of this district of the state federation, and George E. Allen, organizer, attended the meeting at two o'clock when plans were discussed for joining the state organization.

President John G. Brown of the state federation, has rejoined federation officials in the $200,000 guarantee fund campaign, after ten days in Washington representing Indiana farmers. Rush county has been called on to raise $2,500 as its share of the state fund and D. C. Buell has been appointed chairman for the campaign.

President Brown went to Washington with farmers' representatives from five other middle western states making up "the nation's bread basket," to confer with President Wilson on the High Cost of Living. While there, President Brown and the other farm leaders went over farm and food production problems with the Department of Agriculture and Congressional committees.

"The trip to the capital," said Mr. Brown in a statement today "illustrates once more the need for an organization like the Federation National leaders had to know the attitude of the farmers before they could outline their course in the campaign against the High Cost of Living. The only way they could learn this attitude was by interviewing men from the big agricultural states who were in position to know how the producers feel."

MODERN WOODMEN AT STATE LOG ROLLING

Several Go in Machines to Shelbyville This Morning and Others Will See Parade Tonight

NOT TO COMPETE FOR PRIZES

Among those from here that attended the Annual State Meeting and Log Rolling of the Modern Woodmen of America at Shelbyville today were, Thomas Ansbury, Willard Rea, Theodore Saunders, Ernest Stevens, J. P. Stech, Charley Remington, Hyman Schatz and T. E. McAllister. The trip to Shelbyville was made in machines, and several were planning to go down this afternoon on the train, and many more will go tonight to attend the final part of the program.

The Rushville lodge had planned to enter a team of foresters in the drill contest, but not enough interest was shown in the event. The business session was scheduled for this morning and this afternoon eleven teams were to compete in the drill contest in the public square.

This contest was judged by Major-General J. D. Liggett, of Des Moines, Ia.; Brigadier-General Joseph Riehemann of Rock Island, Ill., and Brigadier-General S. J. DeLong of Detroit, Mich. A parade will be held at night and a class of 100 candidates will be initiated.

organization of the Federation had exchanged views frequently and established a fairly definite program of action. When Washington asked for advice, therefore, the Federation was able, through me, to place the Indiana position before the country's executives. I feel that this was important. Six months ago, without the Federation, we would not have had so good an opportunity to plead our case."

Mr. Brown added, however, that his trip to Washington was only an incidental in the Federation program. Its leaders have set a definite course for the organization, he said, and this course is only begun. The creation of the $200,000 guarantee fund, which is well underway, is the first step. Secretary Lewis Taylor and Special Treasurer William Bosson, going over the campaign today with Mr. Brown, advised him that the fund will surely be completed by September 19.

"Once the fund is completed," said Mr. Brown, "We will take up our real, permanent work. We are going to work out our own protection against the profiteer, and we are going to find some way in which we can protect our interests in dealing with the packers and grain men. Further than that, the Federation will find ways to reinforce the county agriculture agent program, and will take up such work as the protection of farming interests in legislation. The need for the organization is evident, and farmers throughout the state are lining up with us."

Mr. Brown will spend the next few weeks speaking at meetings of the farmers of Indiana. He was scheduled to talk this week at a first district meeting in Plymouth, and next week is slated to speak at district meetings at Shelbyville and Bloomfield.

and always tried to treat everyone alike. His resignation will take place tonight. There were three applicants for the place, and the committee will appoint a successor in a few days.

A petition for a sidewalk improvement in North Willow street, was carried over until some time next year, as it was too late now to go through the process required, and the work would not be completed before cold weather.

The fire committee, which was appointed at the last meeting to investigate fire trucks, and was to report last night, stated that they wished to have a little more time. It seems to be certain that a new truck will be purchased. Last night Clifford Bagley, representing a Longansport factory was here, and presented some facts and showed pictures of how his company builds any kind of a body on any chassis. O. F. Bussard was on hand with prices on a chassis. Fire Chief Easley stated that he wants a body built which will carry about 1200 feet of hose, 2 3/4 foot ladders and a 35 gallon chemical tank under the seat.

"We have no record whatever of what clothing the men got or what they paid for it. All we have is the different articles that were purchased by the State and the Government price on same. The only way to get these things adjusted is for Captain Kiplinger to make out the list and to certify to each of the receipts, because he issued the property to the men, collected the money from them and paid it into the State. This payment was made in a lump sum."

"We have a great number of receipts here awaiting his return and will submit them to him immediately on his arrival."

In closing, Adj. Gen. Smith says as soon as Dr. Green gets the sanitary unit's lists ready, he would be glad to furnish him receipts, or will make them out for him if Dr. Green will forward the lists to Indianapolis.

Fence Facts

A well fenced farm gives character to the land and reputation to him who farms it.

No farmer with proper pride will allow his fences to run down and look shoddy.

Spring and fall are the two best times to build a fence. Neither extremely hot nor unusually cold weather is good.

Since a farmer has more spare time in fall than spring, the coming season offers the best opportunity to build and repair your fences.

URGES CONTINUATION PRESENT RAIL RATES

Chairman of Association of Railway Executives Testifies Before House Committee

ASKS TRANSPORTATION BOARD

Washington, Aug. 20.—Continuation of present railroad rates and government guarantee of the standard return until conditions again become normal, were advocated before the house interstate commerce committee today as the only way to prevent disaster to the rail lines, by Thomas Dewitt Taylor, chairman of the Association of Railway Executives.

Other features of the plan of the executives were outlined as follows:

Creation of a federal transportation board to have a general oversight of the railroad problem in the public interest.

Vesting in the interstate commerce commission the supreme rate-making power with the direction from congress that the level of rates ordered by the commission shall provide revenue sufficient to pay wages and other expenses of operation, a fair return on the value of the property used in public service and establish and maintain a credit sufficient to attract the new capital necessary to meet the public needs for transportation facilities.

HIGH PERCENT OF CASUALTIES

Rome, Aug. 20.—Gen. Pershing was to continue his tour of the Italian battle areas today, visiting many cities of importance. He will spend three hours in Milan tomorrow and visit Turin in the afternoon on his way back to Paris.

Speaking at the dinner given by the mayor of Rome, Pershing declared the Italians were among the best United States citizens and the best United States soldiers. The percentage of casualties among soldiers of Italian origin was higher than those maintained by any other nationality in the American army, Pershing asserted.

Replying to the speech of welcome by Mayor Oppoloni of Rome, Pershing said he fully appreciated the honor the Italians had accorded him and would regard it as among the most remarkable of his life.

Not Peculiar to United States.

The advance of prices is not confined to the United States or to the countries which participated in the war. It has been world wide. Nor has it occurred exclusively in the products required for war purposes, or for the use of the millions engaged in the war. Practically every article entering international trade has advanced in price in the country in which produced, irrespective of their proximity to the war area. Nor have prices been reduced to a perceptible degree in any part of the world since the close of the war. There are, of course, a few exceptions to this general rule, but they are so few and so plainly due to peculiar conditions that they "prove the rule" that the advance has been world wide and that the termination of the war has not reversed the movement or at least caused any material decline in any considerable proportion of the important articles of world production and world consumption.

The extent of the increases in world prices and their distribution to all parts of the globe irrespective of relation to the war area is illustrated by a compilation by The National City Bank of New York showing the 1919 prices in the country of production of the principal articles forming the international trade of the world and comparing these 1919 prices with those of the month preceding the war. In the distant Orient, in the tropical world, in the interior of Africa, Australia and South America, and in the small islands of the Pacific, the prices demanded for the articles offered for exportation have been and still continue to be far above those of the pre-war period, the advances ranging from 50 percent to 100 per cent and sometimes 150 per cent.)

Rice for example, of which the United States imported about 400,000,000 pounds from China and Japan in 1918, cost in the country of production 7.2 cents per pound for that imported in December 1918 as against 2.6 cents per pound for that imported in the month preceding the war, July 1914. Nitrate of soda, drawn chiefly from Chile, for which the war demands ceased at the date of the Armistice, cost in the country of production $57.40 per ton for that imported in May 1919 against $26.65 per ton for that imported in the month preceding the war. Raw silk, of which we obtain our entire supply from China and Japan, cost in those countries an average of $6.12 per pound for the imports of the closing month of the war, and $3.84 per pound in the month preceding the war. Wood pulp bleached, chiefly from Canada and not produced in the war countries, cost in the country of production $160 per ton for the quantity imported into the United States in January 1919 against $49 for that imported in the month preceding the war. Goat skins imported from China, India, Mexico, and South American cost in those countries an average of 62.8 cents per pound for those reaching the United States in May 1919 against 24.5 cents per pound for those imported from the same countries in the month preceding the war. Flaxseed, imported chiefly from Argentina and not an article demanded for war purposes, cost in the country of production $3 per bushel for that reaching us in January 1919 against $1.47 per bushel paid for that imported in July 1914. Matting for floors, imported chiefly from Japan and China, cost in the countries of production 26.4 cents per sq. yard for the quantities which reached us in July 1914. Jute, imported from India, cost in that country $172.75 per ton for the quantity imported into the United States in March 1919 against $49.56 per ton for that imported in the month preceding the opening of the war.

Curiously too, the prices of many articles continue to advance without reference to the fact that the war has terminated. Of the seventy-five articles named by the Department of Commerce as 'Principal Articles Imported' more than one-half of these entering the United States in May 1919 actually showed higher prices in the country of production than the prices of the same articles imported in the closing month of the war, and coming from the same country.

AMUSEMENTS

"The Veiled Adventure."

At the very finish of the plot in the new Select comedy plus drama, "The Veiled Adventure," starring Constance Talmadge, in which she is presented by Lewis J. Selznick and which can be seen tonight at the Princess Theatre, is a scene which is bound to put the house into an uproar.

The lovely Constance, playing the role of Geraldine Baker, a young society girl, has just met her lover on the seashore and in a very romantic scene which thrills with emotion, she has promised to become his wife and, to use the expression of a motion picture fan, "they go to clinch for the final close-up."

The scene now changes to an old fisherman, who is sitting on the beach under the brilliant light of the full moon, and watching with the greatest interest the events just described. His fishing-pole jerks, but even the thought of a fish on his line cannot distract him from the object of his attention. He feels his line pulled taut, and without turning his head, impatiently mutters, "Gosh, I wish he'd kiss her, so I could pull in my fish!"

The scene again changes, showing the two lovers leaning toward each other, preparing to kiss. A flash-back to the old fisherman's watching face shows that they have kissed. He smiles and pulls in his fish.

The picture was directed by Walter Edwards and James C. Van Trees is responsible for the excellent photography. Julia Crawford Ivers wrote the original story and also the continuity. Miss Talmadge is supported by an excellent cast, including her popular leading man, Harrison Ford.

MARTIAL LAW IS DECLARED

Polish and German Troops Clash in Upper Silesia

(By United Press.)

Berlin, Aug. 20.—Martial law was declared in upper Silesia today as a result of the clash between German and Polish forces. German government representatives declared that so far fifteen Germans had been killed. Chancellor Baer told the assembly at Weimer today that the Polish government was not implicated in the attack, saying the soldiers were not regulars. The German command was in control of the situation, he said.

McCloskey with not a cent in his clothes, thought of a new one. He ran into Caskey's saloon barking wildly: "Woof! Woof! Whiskey! For the love of heaven! Woof! Woof! I've been bit by a mad dog." The alarmed and surprised and considerate bartender skated a full quart toward him and McCloskey swallowed four fingers and a wrist and ran out barking, "Woof! Woof!"

Within two hours he imposed upon seven different saloons and then erred grievously. He "doubled" on his route. The first victim-barkeep heard him coming with his bark and within ten seconds McCloskey had been whaled over the head and thrown out in the street. A stray dog, a real dog, looking for entertainment and bones, came near him and sniffed, and then saluted: "Woof! A-Woof!" McCloskey opened a battered eye, shook his head negatively and said:

"Cut it out pup! They're on to us."

Do your Jams and Jellies ever "Candy"?

Many women have been so discouraged by this trouble that they have almost stopped putting up fruit.

Yet, there is an easy, simple way to avoid it. Use ½ Karo (Red Label) and ½ sugar in your preserving syrup, instead of sugar alone.

Karo is a fine, clear syrup, with a natural affinity for the juices of the fruit.

It blends the sugar with the fruit juice—brings out all the "fruity" flavor.

You, too, will obtain perfect results this summer if you will use ½ Karo (Red Label) and ½ sugar instead of all sugar for preserving.

You will find your jelly clear and firm—your preserves rich with heavy syrup—your jams deliciously mellow and "fruity". Not a sign of "candyng".

For Cooking, Baking and Candy-Making Karo (Red Label) is used in millions of homes. In all cooking and baking recipes use Karo instead of sugar. It is sweet, of delicate flavor, and brings out the natural flavor of the food.

But Kentucky Man Says—"People Who Belong to Hay Fever Colony are Kidding Themselves."

Wouldn't Be Any Rose or Hay Fever if Simple Home Remedy Was Given a Chance.

"Yes, there's a real NINETY-NINE per cent effective remedy for hay or rose fever," frankly states a druggist in a prosperous Kentucky city.

"But I don't expect anyone to believe me, because the treatment is so easy and the cost not worth mentioning."

"The annual crop of hay-fever jokes would be mighty scarce if people would get an ounce of Mentholized Arcine and by just adding water that has been boiled make a pint of liquid that will prove a real help to all who suffer."

"Many of my hay-fever friends tell me that by starting to gargle and snuff or spray the nostrils a few times a day the expected severe attack often fails to appear and in cases where it does show up is very mild and does not annoy."

"The Better Class of Pharmacists" who dispense Mentholized Arcine say it will greatly modify any attack even when taken three or four days after hostilities begin.

Go to a real live druggist when you get ready to make a pint.

Then if your energy and endurance haven't doubled, if your mind isn't keener and eyes brighter, if you don't feel twice as ambitious as before, any druggist anywhere will return the purchase price—gladly and freely.

ENGLAND NEEDS NEW STATESMEN

War Has Shown the Weaknesses of the Country's Politicians and a Change is in Sight

THEY NEED THREE THINGS.

First, a Man, Then a Party and Finally a Policy for the Party and Man to Work on London, (By Mail).—The war has proved a fatal melting-pot to many world institutions, but nowhere has its effect been more marked than in British politics. America and the rest of the world would do well to watch closely the rapidly changing aspects of the situation, for all the old parties are being made over, many favorite policies are being scrapped, and many of the old leaders jettisoned, having failed to test true in the fire of war and reconstruction.

British politicians and the voters are now searching for three things:

A MAN—Wanted by the old parties as a leader.

A PARTY—Wanted by several self-styled "men".

A POLICY—Wanted by the parties, the would-be men, and the general public. And here is where the rest of the world becomes interested, for it is an on-looker.

The number of possible candidates for the first job is remarkably small. The average citizen would tell you, most likely, that there is only one—David Lloyd George, the "little Welsh wizard" who received such an extraordinary national welcome on his return from the conference table at Paris. But Lloyd George would be the first to admit that he is no stranger to the other side of political fame, and for some years before the war he was probably the most bitterly cursed man in England. Nineteen years ago he had to flee for his life, disguised in a policeman's uniform, to escape a "patriotic" mob who resented his championship of the Boer farmers with whom Great Britain was then at war.

Lloyd George is the one outstanding character in British political life to-day, and by sheer hard work, flashes of intuitive genius and personal magnetism he has lined up practically the whole country behind him.

But what he needs is a party. Formerly leader of the radical wing of the Liberal party, he automatically succeeded H. H. Asquith in the party favor, when the latter was compelled to resign the premiership, and the coalition government was formed by Lloyd George in 1916. The coalition has served its purpose and like most such temporary expedients shows signs of early disruption. Who is Lloyd George going to lead then? is the question agitating politicians.

The old Liberal and Conservative parties have suffered too many casualties to be able to set up in business again. The Conservatives have their own little "tin gods", and will not adopt Lloyd George. What the majority of the old Liberals will do is a puzzle. Although no longer in Parliament (he was overwhelmed in the election just before Christmas) Herbert H. Asquith is still the leader of a bunch of Liberals, who now politically unimportant are contemptuously styled the "Wee Frees". Asquith is a dead-letter, but he can still rob Lloyd George of some supporters.

The Conservatives are nominally united under Andrew Bonar Law, but Law apparently does not aspire to be the MAN the country is advertising for. He was only a stop-gap alternative, when elected to succeed Arthur James Balfour in the party leadership in 1911—a buffer between the irreconcilable factions rooting for Austen Chamberlain and Walter Hume Long respectively. He has proven himself a capable and conscientious statesman, but he lacks personal magnetism indispensable for a great party leader. The remainder of the Conservative leaders may be eliminated from the contest, Chamberlain and Long being relegated to the "have-beens" and Balfour desirous of retiring from political life on account of his great age.

The only two serious rivals to Lloyd George in the personality contest are Winston S. Churchill, at present War Secretary, and Robert Smillie miners' leader and uncrowned king of British labor. Both have the magnetic gift, and both will go far, according to the prophets and close observers. If he had never taken over the War Office in the coalition government, Churchill might have successfully challenged Lloyd George for the leadership of the combined Liberal and Labor parties, but his handling of demobilization and the Russian expedition has aroused bitter resentment among laborites and a section of the Liberal party. That Churchill will be Premier of England some day is certain, declare most experts, but he will probably have to lie low for a bit.

Smillie is the "dark horse". He is not a new man, but his parliamentary career has been brief and obscure, for he has generally been defeated in typical Scotch labor constituencies by his own countrymen, who nevertheless gave him full power to bargain for them industrially. Since he has been president of the Miners' Federation of Great Britain, he has been easily the outstanding figure in the labor world. The favorites then, for Prime Minister are, David Lloyd George, Winston Churchill and Robert Smillie. It might be said that Smillie's party is obviously ready-made—the Labor Party, but that is not so, for he has had a curious sequence of parliamentary defeats.

For Lloyd George and Churchill there is a billet offered. A new organization, the Center Party has arisen, a combination of progressive liberals and Conservatives, and Lloyd George and Churchill would appear to be the natural leaders. Overtures have been made, but although it is said that Churchill is willing, Lloyd George has "nothing to say". Doubtless they are sizing up the situation and weighing their prospects of success.

DISTRIBUTION MUST BE BASED ON '18 LEVY

Attorney General Gives School Tuition Opinion For Benefit of Township Trustees

NO H. S. TRANSPORTATION

Ele Stansbury, attorney-general of Indiana, in two opinions submitted to L. N. Hines, state superintendent of public instruction, has held that the 1918 local tuition levies and not the 1919 levies should be the basis of deficiency fund distributions this school year and that township trustees should not transport high school pupils.

Regarding the deficiency fund distribution basis the attorney-general wrote:

"If such school corporations in 1918 made the required levy for supplementary tuition when they are entitled to draw from the deficiency emergency fund for deficiencies occurring in the school year of 1919-1920. If they make the levy of 1919 required by Section 4 of the act of 1919 they will be entitled, if a deficiency exists in the school year of 1920-1921 to draw from such emergency fund."

In the matter of transportation of pupils the attorney-general did not question the transportation of elementary school pupils and in interpreting the 1919 school transfer act held that it applied only to them.

obligation" that might be even stronger than a legal promise.

Pressed for a more exact definition by committee members who insisted that the "whole arrangement was a rope of sand," he asserted that on the contrary he regards it as placing the nations in "an attitude of comradeship and protection" that would compel respect for the principles of justice and liberty.

Article X of the covenant guaranteeing the integrity of league members against aggression, he declared, would give each nation "complete freedom of choice as to the application of force." Even if the American representative on the council joined in a unanimous recommendation for military action the final decision for peace or war must rest so far as concerned the United States with the congress, he said.

Whatever advice the council gave under its authority to take such action as it "deemed appropriate" must also be deemed appropriate by the United States to be binding on this government, he argued though in the background would be such a potential moral force that he doubted whether the nation would often decline to act.

The President revealed that Japan's promise to return Shantung province to China was reduced to written form in the minutes of the peace conference. He asserted he had "every confidence" that the promise would be carried out and told the senators it was "the best that could be got" out of the negotiations, Japan having given notice she would withdraw from the conference if her demands were refused.

The American delegates, he said, had tried to keep the nation free from obligations in European affairs "so far as it was honorably possible to do so," but he asserted that it might be necessary to keep some American troops in the Rhine district under the treaty for the next fifteen years.

He declared the nation would be its own sole judge whether its obligations had been fulfilled under the disputed withdrawal clause of the league covenant; that purely domestic questions were safe from the league's interference; and that

Refreshingly New Suits, Dresses

To be becomingly clad in Autumn styles in August is now the vogue. Why not be among those to don the new garments while they are at their newest? As clothes are undeniably a big part in life today, they should be chosen with exacting care. The garments that we show are selected on the premises where they are made and American styles are created, hence they are authoritatively correct. Only garments of distinction and intrinsic worth find a place in our cases. For these reasons, if for no other

A LOOK THROUGH OUR AUTUMN DISPLAY will be both instructive and entertaining. We recommend to you as the part of wisdom that you make your purchases early.

NEW BLOUSES

Georgette is still queen in the blouse field, but clever ideas have made new uses of this wonderful material. Wool embroidery effects, peplun styles and short sleeves are among the new features.

NEW CORSETS

Hundreds of new Gossards and Kabos have just been unpacked. Make an appointment with our corsetiere now, and be fitted correctly before you have any Fall garments made. Scores of new brassieres and confiners are at your disposal, too.

the Monroe Doctrine was clearly preserved.

Mr. Wilson revealed that he had suggested the United States take no part of the German reparation, but had asked that the conference reserve disposition of the German Pacific island of Yap on a suggestion that it was needed for an American naval station.

from this warehouse, that the price of this same sugar had advanced in price, while it was in storage, and he never bought any more of it. The real profiteers in the sugar were not Sam Finney or the local grocers, but the Kenny Company who were increasing their price from time to time while it was on hand and in storage. Prosecutor Stevens said that the Kenny Company was violating the food control act, in as much as they had shipped it here for the purpose of hoarding and increasing the price.

BANDIT HUNT IS RESUMED TODAY

from Ft. Bliss, near El Paso, were to augment the air protection of the 8th cavalry in Mexico today. The rains last night are believed to have wiped out the trails of the bandits, but it was not without its advantages, however, for the softened conditions of the earth would make fresh trails, more easily discernable than the trails made previous to the rains.

The American troops in their dash across the border were spread out in a fan-shaped formation over a wide stretch of Mexican country south of the Rio Grande. With nearly six hours' start on the punitive expedition, the bandits are believed to have scattered in the mountain passes and canyons, and it probably will be necessary to search every square mile of the rough country below the border to find them, in the opinion of military men.

It was not known how many are in the bandit band. Lieutenant Davis and Lieutenant Peterson said that they saw six men. There were twenty other bandits at the ranch where the outlaws stopped. The American aviators were told that the band numbered sixty.

Arrangements for nurses, ambulances and surgical dressings for the punitive expedition troops were made last night by Elmer Donnell, of St. Louis, for use in case of emergency.

H. M. Fennell, a banker of this city, arrived late yesterday and announced that the amount of ransom actually paid for release of the aviators was $8,500. Fennell took the $15,000 demanded to Candelaria Monday.

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

The Ford Sedan, with electric self-starting and lighting system and demountable rims with 3½-inch tires front and rear, for every day in the year has no equal as a family car. Just as popular on the farm as it is in the city. In fact, it fits the family demands in every vocation of life. Large, roomy seats, finely upholstered, plate glass windows make it an open car in pleasant weather, while in rainy and inclement weather it becomes a closed car, dust-proof and rain-proof. It is not only comfortable, but really cozy, and above all, economical in operation and maintenance, and has all the Ford merits of strength and durability.

His Record is Shaking Hands Three Times in One Minute

Harvey Allen, Who Spent Twenty Months in France, Tells of Eccentricities of French People, and of Their Queer Customs, Some of Which Americans Held Inviolable.

Harvey Allen who spent twenty months in France in the civilian mail service, had an opportunity to observe the habits and customs of the French people, and in the appended article, he tells of many which seemed peculiar to Americans, some of which were held inviolable and others were disregarded:

"The French have a custom of shaking hands that is hard to beat. My record is shaking hands with the same man three times in one minute. You shake when you meet and again when you leave, no matter how many times a day you meet.

"The most striking thing in France is the amount of work done by women and in war time it was even more so. They sweep the streets, drive wagons and carts, saw and split wood, pack it in baskets and carry it up several flights of winding stairs, carry heavy loads in baskets on their backs, work in the fields, carry the produce to market, in the city haul coal and carry it into the cellar in sacks or up the stairs as the case may require. They have always done this hard labor but since the war their burden has been heavy.

"When I first saw Paris not a single tramway, bus or subway conductor was a man but now a few men are back on the job. The great number of women in mourning is appalling more so a year ago than now. Not all of them were widows though. Mourning is worn by sisters, daughters, mothers and sweethearts as well as the widows.

"There is one woman in Langres who has lost six sons, equalling Mrs. Bixby. I am well acquainted with a family there of six sons. Two are dead and one was a prisoner in Germany for four years. All were French officers. One son was killed and another captured in the same battle on the same day and the captain who was captured did not know of his two brothers being killed or the natural death of his father until he was released after the armistice.

"Imagine the wife having to tell him all this sad news, when she met him for the first time in Switzerland. I afterwards met this captain and he acted to me like a lion in a cage—very restless and does not know what to do with himself. His sister told me he will never be the same again.

"The wife undoubtedly is the saddest woman I ever met. She lived in Dayton, Ohio, for three years and speaks good English. I knew a French soldier who had won the Croix de Guerre and had several citations—two of them palms, which means he had been cited twice before the whole French army. This 'poilu' had not seen his family since the war began. They were in the occupied territory, he knew not where, and did not know whether they were dead or alive.

"Imagine the feelings of this poor soul, a wife and two daughters about ten and twelve years of age. At one time he was on the front not many miles from his home and had to fire in the direction of his loved ones.

"At hotels in small towns a very good meal costs four francs or about 70 cents. I stayed at a hotel for eight months and my two meals each day cost six francs or a few cents over a dollar. Soup, two vegetables, two kinds of meat or one meat and one fish, and always cheese.

"It was required that we either give bread tickets or furnish our own bread. When we furnished our own bread we were paid for what it cost us at the commissary. In Paris I used bread tickets all together. You could get a meal without them, but it was not right to do so. France is not a desolate waste as some people think. However, they ask you to eat all you want, but not to take on your plate more than you will eat, and waste absolutely nothing. I could 'lick the platter clean' and become a regular 'plate polisher'.

"The French have many strange customs which many Americans broke and objected to. One is the closing of the store or shop during the noon hour and taking the door knob off while the place was closed. It takes an hour and a half for each meal, and this also got on the nerves of the Americans. No 'dairy lunches' or three minute affairs there.

"The French being set in their ways, object very seriously and rightly to some 'foreigner' breaking their customs. 'Another old custom' is that of protecting the ground floor window with shutters. Many different kinds are in evidence, but the most used are the rolling type, similar to the rolling curtains in some of our churches and schools. All stores, shops and residences are thus equipped. It was necessary during the 'dark ages' to protect their property in this manner to prevent bands of robbers and brigands from taking all they had. The danger passed a hundred years or more ago but the custom of locking up tight at six o'clock each day remains.

"Another custom much violated by Americans was the scolding of change. If an article purchased cost eighty-five centimes, they refused the change of three sous and left it on the counter, saying they did not want to be bothered with 'clackers' as we called them. To the French shop keeper this was astonishing, at first, because the French merchant class are very particular about change and giving the exact amount and also they count their sous to the very last. I have seen them argue for several minutes over four sous on a restaurant bill. They always figure their bill from the menu. The 'rich Americans' as they called us, scorned such things as a few pennies and as a result prices advanced.

"Another custom in which the American 'spilled the beans' was the giving of tips. It is an inviolable custom to give a ten per cent, tip and cut the extra sous. For example, your meal comes to eighty francs. You give a fifty centime tip and not eighty. But again the 'rich American' hands the waiter a ten franc bill and tells him to keep the change. I have on innumerable occasions seen American officers and enlisted men give two and three times as much tip as was required by custom. This created a very bad impression among the French people. It is also considered by the French people a very bad practice to tell a shop keeper that his wares are not high prices. The prevailing custom always is to ask him for a lower price on the article you intend to purchase and to bargain with him.

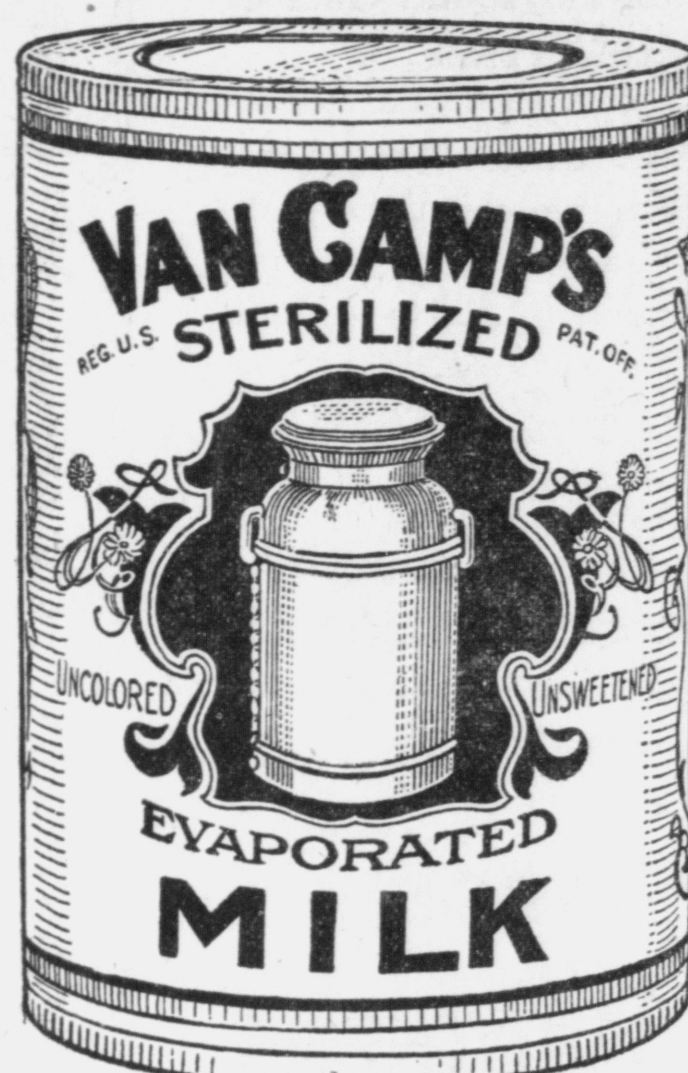

"But the American comes in, asks the price, as he would at home, and in addition says that the article he intends to purchase is 'not dear' and again 'spills the beans.'

One beautiful custom the Americans did not violate; in fact, hundreds of them adopted it as their own. It is the respect for the dead. At a funeral in France the family and friends walk behind the hearse to the church and from there to the cemetery. Every

Your Home, Madam

Can Get a Milk Such as Millions Cannot Get The Finest Milk Ever Used

Milk of Double Richness
Evaporated by Low Heat
Sterilized After Sealing

From Healthy High-Bred Cows Regularly Inspected
Model Sanitary Dairies

"The Cow in the Pantry"

The homes of this city can now get Van Camp's Milk—the best milk produced in America.

We cannot supply—and never can—more than one home in a hundred. So we offer it here in our home state. The grocers of this city will be kept supplied. We have seven model condenseries, all in famous dairying districts. Each day we milk 45,000 cows. But milk of this grade, from high-bred cows, will always be somewhat limited.

A 20-Year Development

About 20 years ago we started out to produce the utmost in rich, safe, cleanly milk. Some of the ablest experts in this line—foreign and American—have been employed to help us. Van Camp's Milk comes from healthy cows of the finest breeds. It has taken us years to accumulate them. Those cows are kept in sanitary dairies. They are regularly inspected.

The cows are milked close to our condenseries. The fresh, warm milk is then placed in a vacuum. There, by low heat, more than half the water is evaporated.

The milk is then a double-rich milk, as thick as thick cream. It is twice as rich as bottled milk, both in butter fat and solids.

Van Camp's Milk

The Best Milk Produced in America

Sterilized and Safe

After this milk is hermetically sealed it is sterilized by heat. Thus it comes to you a germ-free milk, safe for drinking, safe for infants.

The dangers which lurk in ordinary milk are absent in Van Camp's.

If you want very thick cream use Van Camp's as it is. For coffee, cereals and ice cream it can even be diluted. To reduce to rich milk add an equal part of water. Just replace what we take out.

For cooking reduce still further. For every purpose you get full-cream milk when you use Van Camp's.

No Shortage—No Waste

This ideal milk, rich, cleanly, safe, costs you less than bottled milk. In addition it saves all waste. You don't need to guess at your daily wants. You never have too much milk or too little.

Small cans and large cans are kept ever on the shelf. Open what you need.

Thus you have both milk and cream for any purpose in any quantity. Never more than you need, never less than you need. That reduces milk cost to the minimum.

Compare Van Camp's with the milk you use—with bottled milk or with other evaporated. See what we have accomplished. Tell your grocer—now, before you forget—to send a few cans of Van Camp's.

FRENCH AIR MEN GET GOOD PLACES

Experiences They Had Dropping Bombs Qualifies Them to be Rail and Road Construction Bosses

THUS MUCH TIME IS SAVED

Can View the Contemplated Territory From the Air, Finding Places in Which to Build Roads.

(By United Press.)

Paris, (By Mail)—Bringing down Boche aeroplanes, and dropping bombs on German railroads are excellent training for construction bosses. At least so says Mr. Henri Bouche, Paris contractor, who advocates the employment of France's Air Force in aiding the reconstruction projects in Northern France.

According to Mr. Bouche aviators can immensely facilitate the following three phases of the work:

(1) Obtaining valuation of damages.

(2) Planning the reconstruction work.

(3) Supervising actual rebuilding. Taking a census of the damages will be a work involving innumerable physical obstacles if undertaken only by inspectors on the ground. Bouche points out that aviators, unhampered by the impassibility of the roads and trench-lined fields, can easily reconnoiter the whole front, take pictures when necessary, and in a few hours accomplish what it would take months to do by any other means.

Attacking the reconstruction problem, says Bouche, will be not unlike attacking an opposing army. At first the reconnaissance must be made, exact knowledge obtained of conditions prevailing, whether it be an army or an immense waste that is to be attacked. Just as the fliers used to look for German batteries they must now seek out ruined towns, destroyed bridges and shell ridden fields.

Thus by gathering photographic records of the ruined areas aviators can assist the evaluation of damages upon which the reparation figures are to be based.

Then when the amount of damages has been determined, the aviators can be assigned the task of planning the reconstructions. Being able to gain both a mental and visual perspective of the task, they can draw up the plans for rebuilding the vast waste area.

Finally, the actual supervising of the work can best be carried on from the air. Just as the aviators used to report the results of the artillery fire, they can in the future report the daily progress of the various rebuilding projects. In this manner a real coordination can be obtained and the work carried out along really comprehensive lines.

Buick Touring Coupe

THE BUICK Model K-Six-46 is a true Coupe model, with permanent sides and roof, an exceptionally wide body, and its graceful contour eliminates all open spaces between the body and fenders. From the outside, the appearance of the car is low, rakish and well-balanced, but there has been no sacrifice of interior head room. The rear fenders are new in design, with touring car running boards. Top, window casings and sashes, are fully metal covered, eliminating the possibility of checks and open joints.

The deeply upholstered interior is finished in a new and improved fabric, without bindings. Back of the driver's seat is a carrying space, with another in the rear deck. Electric side lamps are mounted on the cowl and a dome illuminates the interior. The double-latch doors may be locked from the outside.

Frenchman from the lowest class of worker, in passing the funeral cortege, removes his hat out of respect for the corpse. Soldiers always pass at salute and many of the Americans accepted this custom as their own and saluted also. The French respect for the dead almost reaches a superstition. The period of mourning after a death in the family extends always a year and often times longer. The women wear crepe veils and the men wear a black brassard on the left arm.

"Because of this custom the American graves in France, especially those in French cemeteries and the smaller cemeteries, are cared for by some French family, they having adopted a grave and look after its up-keep and see that flowers are placed on it at regular intervals. At Suresnes, where President Wilson made his Memorial Day address, single graves are not adopted, but the women of this suburb of Paris spend a great deal of their time keeping flowers on the graves. This is quite a large cemetery and will be a beautiful place some day when the grass and shrubbery is fully grown. The same is true of the cemetery at Bouresches, near Belleau Wood. These are the only large cemeteries. I presume the others are well kept. In fact, the graves registration service are vying with each other as to which outfit will have the neatest cemetery.

They are SELF-GUIDING and follow the horse perfectly on short turns or between crooked rows without guiding from the rear. They are STEERABLE without lifting by the operator. Pressure on one of the handles or the operator shifting his position, when riding on the box immediately changes the course to that side. They are ADJUSTABLE both as to width of rows and as to depth of sowing. They are UNIFORM depositors of seed by means of independent and adjustable spring pressure on each disc. They are CONVENIENT in transportation to and from the fields. One lever raises the discs and the drill is carried on the castor wheel in front and the drive wheels in the rear.

JAPAN IS READY TO WELCOME NEW IDEALS

So-Called Ideas Are Prevalent in Restricted Section of Society And Not Dangerous

DANGER OF BEING INFECTED

(By United Press.)

Tokyo, (By Mail).—Japan is all in readiness to welcome the new ideals of the world developed by the war. Japanese opposition to introduction of the ideas that changed world conditions have created would take the country back into feudal days, according to M. Nakabashi, minister of education.

"The propaganda of democratic ideals which the war has brought in its train has given an impetus to the rise of new ideas in Japan, where freedom of thought has long been subject to regulations. This is a satisfactory sign of the times. "It must be remembered, however, that bad as well as good ideas are apt to find their way here. As the constitutional ideas of the people are still undeveloped, there is danger of their becoming contaminated with radical ideas.

"In my opinion the so-called new ideas are prevalent only in a restricted section of society and are not so dangerous as some fear. If influx of all foreign ideas is to be prohibited, owing to their possible baneful nature, that will mean reversion to the feudal days when Japan was isolated from foreign intercourse and the import of all foreign ideas was zealously guarded."

These Tires Are a Revelation

The Brunswick is frankly a combination of the best in tire building.

There is one tread that's supreme beyond question. And that is now on Brunswicks.

There is one side-wall construction, which, by every test, holds the summit place for endurance. And that one was adopted for Brunswicks.

Fabrics differ — up to 30 per cent — in their strength tests. On Brunswicks the maximum long-fiber is the standard.

There are certain additions, each one expensive, which add vastly to tire mileage. The Brunswick embodies all these extras.

There are no patents, no secret formulas to prevent any maker from building the best. It is simply a question of knowledge and skill — cost plus care.

Brunswick standards are known the world over. The very name certifies an extraordinary tire. Yet Brunswicks cost no more than like-type tires.

Buy ONE Brunswick. It will prove that a better tire cannot be bought, regardless of price.

Scorched!

It will happen at times under the eyes, even of the most responsible of "home cleaners."

It may be an overheated iron, or momentary forgetfulness—but the damage is done. The garment may be scorched beyond all further usefulness. At the very least a mark is left that no washing can ever erase. Such scorching occurs in the home because irons must be heated by fire and electricity that attain high temperatures.

But it can not take place when you send your garments to us.

Our presses are heated by steam which never becomes hot enough to scorch. If you were to hold a gossamer silk over the steaming spout of your hot water kettle, the steam would not damage the fabric. The same methods are used by us.

With its help we are able to give a beautiful lustre to your work with never a brown-tinted scar to mar it. Garments are thoroughly dry cleaned by us and then given over to the steam presser, which insures the best of work.

SUGAR SENT HERE BY C. D. KENNY CO.

Investigation Discloses Car Load Was Not Bought by Three Local Grocers as Stevens Said.

SOLD TO GROCERYMEN HERE

One Dealer Stops Buying it When Price Goes Up While in Storage—No H. C. L. Inquiry Today.

Because of Squire Stech being out of the city today, the high cost of sugar investigation was at a standstill. The information given out yesterday afternoon by Prosecutor Stevens about the grocers entering combine and purchasing a car load of sugar, caused quite a stir among local grocers, and today further information was sought.

On June 15, 1919, the C. D. Kenny company of Indianapolis, sent to Rushville a car load of sugar, which was stored in a warehouse, back of Sam Finney's on Third street. Samuel Finney rented out the warehouse for that particular purpose, and was authorized to take orders for delivery among the local grocers, subject to the invoice of the Kenny company.

This sugar was to be delivered to local grocers by the Elsbury Peapack line, to any grocer who had credit with the Kenny Company. The information given out yesterday was obtained, according to Prosecutor Stevens, today, from one of the drivers, who maintained that he delivered the sugar to only three grocers, and he supposed the sugar was ordered for them exclusively.

It was learned today that several grocers got some of this sugar and in particular took what was left of July, of 15 barrels, thus finishing up the carload, with the exception of eight bags of brown sugar which were also bought.

Prosecutor Stevens stated that while this was going on, the smaller grocers were unable to buy sugar in any big amounts. One grocer today stated that the purpose of this sugar was to make sugar cheaper, so that it saved freight from Indianapolis. It was learned, however, from one grocer, who bought twice as much as the others, that he had bought the sugar for the purpose of making it cheaper.

ORDERS DEALERS TO REFUND OVERCHARGE

Federal Sugar Distributor For Indiana Says Retailers and Wholesalers Are Effected.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY WILL AID

(By United Press.) Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 20.—Stanley Wyckoff, federal sugar distributor for Indiana, today issued an order requiring wholesalers and retailers who have been charging more than the government price for sugar, immediately to refund the overcharge under penalty of being barred from handling sugar.

The order came as a result of a telegram to Washington by Wyckoff asking authority to act. He received the reply, stating that the district attorney had authority to revoke the licenses of dealers making the overcharge.

District Attorney Slack told Wyckoff today his office will cooperate fully in the matter. Refunds by dealers must be made upon presentation of invoices showing more than the regular price has been charged. Should the dealer refuse to make refunds, Wyckoff has asked purchasers to forward the invoices and other information to him and he will turn the facts over to Slack for action.

The department of justice recently fixed eleven cents as the retail price of sugar.

IS DISCUSSED IN ENGLAND

U. S. Plan to Increase Army And Its Bearing on League.

(By United Press.) London, Aug. 20.—The undercurrent of discussion over America's plans to increase her peace time army and institute compulsory service has been brought to a head in England by Lloyd George's warning that if those who "promote the league of nations increase their armaments the league will be a sham." Opponents of the league say the plans of the United States to increase her army may wreck the league and shatter European confidence in America. Supporters claim America is as much entitled to maintain her peace-time army as England is her navy.

EMBODIES IDEAS OF THE PRESIDENT

Resolutions Regarding Interpretations of Peace Treaty Introduced in Senate Today

SENATOR PITTMAN AUTHOR

Says He Did This to Settle Controversy Over Reservations and Interpretations of Past

(By United Press.) Washington, Aug. 20.—Senator Pittman, Nevada, today introduced a resolution carrying out President Wilson's idea of interpretations of the peace treaty separate from the resolution of ratification. Pittman a democratic member of the foreign relations committee and a strong supporter of the treaty, said he did this to settle at once the controversy over reservations and interpretations.

President Wilson had before him today a series of twenty written questions in regard to the peace treaty, submitted by Senator Fall, of New Mexico, Republican member of the foreign relations committee. The questions which were submitted to the President at the close of the conference yesterday and which he agreed to answer after study were in regard to the possibility of declaring the war at the end prior to senate ratification of the treaty, the disposition of Germany's former colonial possessions and the reasons for American participation on the various reconstruction commissions created by the treaty.

President Wilson's interpretation of the effect of the league of nations covenant on the United States is being much discussed by senators and is certain to be the subject of much debate in the upper branch before the treaty is finally disposed of there.

The covenant, he declared, imposes no legal obligation for the use of American military force in protecting the territory or independence of any other nation. However, he added, the covenant might involve, in certain circumstances, an "absolutely compelling moral obligation."

FOR VIOLATING FOOD ACT

Walter Sheeham Arrested for Making Unfair Profit on Sugar

(By United Press.) Chicago, Aug. 20.—Walter Sheeham, president of the Central Sugar company, was arrested here today on charges of violating the federal food control act. The complaint against Sheeham alleges unfair profit in sugar sales. It is alleged the company bought sugar in Philadelphia for $9.56 and sold it for $12.50. The sugar finally reached the retailer at $13.50.

READY TO PAY FORMER SOLDIERS

Adjutant General Smith Says he Has Receipts and Will Reimburse Men For Equipment.

LISTS MUST BE SUPPLIED

Dr. L. M. Green Preparing One for Sanitary Unit—Other Must Await Capt. Kiplinger's Return.

Harry B. Smith, adjutant general of the state, is ready to reimburse members of old Company B and the sanitary detachment, which organizations were absorbed in the organization of the 139th Field Artillery at Camp Shelby, Miss., in the amounts they paid for their equipment when they enlisted, providing he can get a list of clothing issued to each man, according to a letter received today by T. M. Green, who has been negotiating with the adjutant general for some time regarding the matter.

Dr. Lowell M. Green, who was a captain in the 139th sanitary detachment, is preparing a list of equipment for which his men paid, and will supply it to the adjutant general. He in turn will sign the receipts, and after each man signs his receipt the state will pay the money.

The settlement with men who enlisted in Company B and paid for their equipment, will have to await the return of Captain John H. Kiplinger, who is in France and who has the only list of supplies for which the men paid. There is no certainty when Capt. Kiplinger will be home, although he was expected before this time.

It will be recalled that agitation was started by the Rush County Council of Defense, while the Rush county boys were still at Camp Shelby, to have them reimbursed, when it was learned that they had paid for their uniforms and other equipment upon enlisting. The last legislature appropriated the necessary money and receipts have been printed ready to make the settlements.

Adj. Gen. Smith says in his letter:

"I have your letter of August 18, regarding the matter of clothing which the members of the Rushville Company, B of the 4th, later Battery A of the 139th F. A., have had up with you, and replying would say that we have receipts all in printed form for the men to sign."

ARMY FOOD SALE TO BE CONTINUED

Time Limit is Extended, According to Instructions Received by Postmaster Hunt.

TUESDAY'S SALES ARE LESS.

The sale at the postoffice yesterday of the surplus government food, was not as great as the first day, and there was not near as much bacon sold as it was thought would be. Only two items on the entire list have been sold out, they were the cherries, which went the first day, and the number two sized baked beans, which were sold out yesterday.

The original instructions were that the sale would last three days, making today the last, but the time limit has been extended, and anyone who is contemplating the purchase of the surplus food, can do so by getting their order in as soon as possible, as the government may at any time stop the sale.

REQUIRES DEPOSIT TO TEAR UP STREET

Resolution Adopted by Council Provides Thoroughfares Shall be Left in Same Condition

POLICEMAN HAVENS RESIGNS

Fire Committee, Which Was to Report on Investigation Regarding Truck, Granted More Time

About the only thing of any consequence that came up before the city council last evening was a discussion on how people who had made sewer taps and otherwise torn up the streets, had placed the street back in shape after the work was completed, and the council finally adopted a resolution making the applicant for a permit to deposit $200, which would insure the city that the street would be repaired properly.

The attention of the council was called to many instances in the city where property owners had been given permits to dig in the streets, and that after the work was completed, the street would be left in a miserable condition. One particular place was cited as being in Jackson street, a few houses north of Fifth.

Street Commissioner Havens was asked about the people digging in the streets, and he said that he had watched the digging but that he did not have time to stand over all of them and see that the dirt was placed back right. He was instructed by the council to notify all property owners where digging had been done and the street left in a bad shape, that it should be repaired, and if not done so, the work would be done by the city and charged up to the property owners.

Councilman Seudder presented a resolution which was passed, asking that property owners or contractors who wished permits to dig in the streets, and to obstruct the streets in any manner, to deposit a sum of from $50 to $200, so that the street could be placed in the right kind of repair, and so that upon failure of the person getting the permit to do so, the city would be protected.

The police committee presented the resignation of Policeman Frank Havens which was accepted. Policeman Havens has been on the force for two and a half years and gave poor health as his reason for quitting. During his service for the city, he has made a great many arrests.

GUARD PLANT AFTER RIOTING BY STRIKERS

Four Companies of Soldiers Control Packing Plants at Cudahy, Near Milwaukee, Today.

RIOT IS CAUSE OF ONE DEATH

(By United Press.) Milwaukee, Aug. 20.—Four companies of soldiers stood guard today in the packing town of Cudahy, scene of rioting late yesterday.

At 4:30 this morning a special train rolled into the yards, carrying 460 state guards and 16 officers who took charge of the situation, closing every entrance and exit. Access to the plant can be gained only by military pass.

Thirty-five young women, members of the office force, were quarantined in the plant last night.

One of the first military orders was closing of all saloons. Four companies of state guards were called last evening when a strike riot resulted in the death of one man, injury by shooting of eight others and wounding of a score of others by blows and flying missiles.

IS BITTEN ON LEG BY A DOG

Russell Bebout, Just Recovering From Blood Poisoning, Not Badly

Russell Bebout, 1027 North Maple street, was bitten on the leg by a dog this morning while looking at some stock on the Elmer Giffin farm east of Rushville. He was attacked by the stallion and his arm was badly lacerated and his shoulder blade dislocated before the animal could be driven off.

BANDIT HUNT IS RESUMED TODAY

Four Troops of 8th U. S. Cavalry, With Rescued Airmen as Guides Continue Search in Mexico.

REINFORCED BY FOUR PLANES

Only Contact With Mexicans Reported by Aviator Who Returned Wings of Ship Riddled.

(By United Press.)

El Paso, Texas, Aug. 21.—Four troops of the 8th U. S. cavalry, reinforced by four more airplanes, resumed their hunt again today for the Mexican bandits who kidnapped Lieutenants Peterson and Davis, army aviators.

After a night spent in a fruitless tramp on barren wastes, the American troopers, led by Capt. Matlack, and with the two rescued aviators as guides, kept up the almost hopeless chase. A cloudburst had obliterated the trail.

The only contact reported with Mexicans was by the pilot of one plane which returned to Marfa with bullet riddled wings. Three Mexicans fired on the machine and the observer replied with a machine gun, killing one Mexican, the flier believes.

Marfa, Tex., Aug. 20.—Somewhere in Mexico, opposite Candelaria, Tex., American soldiers today continued the pursuit begun yesterday of bandits who captured and held for ransom Lieutenants Peterson and Davis, American aviators, rescued yesterday after payment of $8,500 gold to the bandit leader. Military headquarters here was without information from the punitive expedition, heavy storms in the mountains of Chihuahua interrupting communication via the army's field telephones.

Possibility that the American soldiers already have had their first skirmish with the bandits was indicated last night when two aviators returned to the American side with bullet holes in the plane of their machine and a report that they had been attacked by three Mexicans, one of whom they believed they killed with machine gun bullets. Another was believed to have been wounded and the third put to flight.

First reports stated that the cavalry was in pursuit of the remaining bandit, but communication was interrupted and no further word came from the punitive force.

DISCUSS PLANS FOR AFFILIATION

Officers and Members of Rush County Farmers Association Meet District Director Here

STATE ORGANIZER HERE ALSO

President of Indiana Body Points to Trip to Washington as Need For Organization of Farmers

Officers and members of the Rush County Farmers' association were to lay plans this afternoon for affiliation with the State Federation of Farmers' associations. L. M. Vogler of Hope, director of this district of the state federation, and George E. Allen, organizer, attended the meeting at two o'clock when plans were discussed for joining the state organization.

President John G. Brown of the state federation, has rejoined federation officials in the $200,000 guarantee fund campaign, after ten days in Washington representing Indiana farmers. Rush county has been called on to raise $2,500 as its share of the state fund and D. C. Buel has been appointed chairman for the campaign.

President Brown went to Washington with farmers' representatives from five other middle western states making up "the nation's bread basket," to confer with President Wilson on the High Cost of Living. While there, President Brown and the other farm leaders went over farm and food production problems with the Department of Agriculture and Congressional committees.

"The trip to the capital," said Mr. Brown in a statement today "illustrates once more the need for an organization like the Federation National leaders had to know the attitude of the farmers before they could outline their course in the campaign against the High Cost of Living. The only way they could learn this attitude was by interviewing men from the big agricultural states who were in position to know how the producers feel."

This contest was judged by Major-General J. D. Liggett, of Des Moines, Ia.; Brigadier-General Joseph Riehemann of Rock Island, Ill., and Brigadier-General S. J. DeLong of Detroit, Mich. A parade will be held at night and a class of 100 candidates will be initiated.

organization of the Federation had exchanged views frequently and established a fairly definite program of action. When Washington asked for advice, therefore, the Federation was able, through me, to place the Indiana position before the country's executives. I feel that this was important. Six months ago, without the Federation, we would not have had so good an opportunity to plead our case."

Mr. Brown added, however, that his trip to Washington was only an incidental in the Federation program. His leaders have set a definite course for the organization, he said, and this course is only begun. The creation of the $200,000 guarantee fund, which is well under way, is the first step. Secretary Lewis Taylor and Special Treasurer William Bosson, going over the campaign today with Mr. Brown, advised him that the fund will surely be completed by September 19.

"Once the fund is completed," said Mr. Brown, "We will take up our real, permanent work. We are going to work out our own protection against the profiteer, and we are going to find some way in which we can protect our interests in dealing with the packers and grain men. Further than that, the Federation will find ways to reinforce the county agriculture agent program, and will take up such work as the protection of farming interests in legislation. The need for the organization is evident, and farmers throughout the state are lining up with us."

Mr. Brown will spend the next few weeks speaking at meetings of the farmers of Indiana. He was scheduled to talk this week at a first district meeting in Plymouth, and next week is slated to speak at district meetings at Shelbyville and Bloomfield.

A petition for a sidewalk improvement in North Willow street, was carried over until some time, next year, as it was too late now to go through the process required, and the work would not be completed before cold weather.

The fire committee, which was appointed at the last meeting to investigate fire trucks, and was to report last night, stated that they wished to have a little more time. It seems to be certain that a new truck will be purchased. Last night Clifford Bagley, representing a Longansport factory was here, and presented some facts and showed pictures of how his company builds any kind of a body on any chassis. O. F. Bussard was on hand with prices on a chassis. Fire Chief Easley stated that he wants a body built which will carry about 1200 feet of hose, 2 35-foot ladders and a 35 gallon chemical tank under the seat.

"We have no record whatever of what clothing the men got or what they paid for it. All we have is the different articles that were purchased by the State and the Government price on same. The only way to get these things adjusted is for Captain Kiplinger to make out the list and to certify to each of the receipts, because he issued the property to the men, collected the money from them and paid it into the State. This payment was made in a lump sum."

"We have a great number of receipts here awaiting his return and will submit them to him immediately on his arrival."

In closing, Adj. Gen. Smith says as soon as Dr. Green gets the sanitary unit's lists ready, he would be glad to furnish him receipts, or will make them out for him if Dr. Green will forward the lists to Indianapolis.

A well fenced farm gives character to the land and reputation to him who farms it.

No farmer with proper pride will allow his fences to run down and look shoddy.

Spring and fall are the two best times to build a fence. Neither extremely hot nor unusually cold weather is good.

Since a farmer has more spare time in fall than spring, the coming season offers the best opportunity to build and repair your fences.

URGES CONTINUATION PRESENT RAIL RATES

ASKS TRANSPORTATION BOARD

Washington, Aug. 20.--Continuation of present railroad rates and government guarantee of the standard return until conditions again become normal, were advocated before the house interstate commerce committee today as the only way to prevent disaster to the rail lines, by Thomas Dewitt Taylor, chairman of the Association of Railway Executives.

Other features of the plan of the executives, were outlined as follows:

Creation of a federal transportation board to have a general oversight of the railroad problem in the public interest.

Vesting in the interstate commerce commission the supreme rate-making power with the direction from congress that the level of rates ordered by the commission shall provide revenue sufficient to pay wages and other expenses of operation, a fair return on the value of the property used in public service and establish and maintain a credit sufficient to attract the new capital necessary to meet the public needs for transportation facilities.

The percentage of casualties among soldiers of Italian origin was higher than those maintained by any other nationality in the American army, Pershing asserted.

Replying to the speech of welcome by Mayor Oppoloni of Rome, Pershing said he fully appreciated the honor the Italians had accorded him and would regard it as among the most remarkable of his life.

Not Peculiar to United States.

The advance of prices is not confined to the United States or to the countries which participated in the war. It has been world wide. Nor has it occurred exclusively in the products required for war purposes, or for the use of the millions engaged in the war. Practically every article entering international trade has advanced in price in the country in which produced, irrespective of their proximity to the war area. Nor have prices been reduced to a perceptible degree in any part of the world since the close of the war. There are, of course, a few exceptions to this general rule, but they are so few and so plainly due to peculiar conditions that they "prove the rule" that the advance has been world wide and that the termination of the war has not reversed the movement or at least caused any material decline in any considerable proportion of the important articles of world production and world consumption.

The extent of the increases in world prices and their distribution to all parts of the globe irrespective of relation to the war area is illustrated by a compilation by The National City Bank of New York showing the 1919 prices in the country of production of the principal articles forming the international trade of the world and comparing these 1919 prices with those of the month preceding the war. In the distant Orient, in the tropical world, in the interior of Africa, Australia and South America, and in the small islands of the Pacific, the prices demanded for the articles offered for exportation have been and still continue to be far above those of the pre-war period, the advances ranging from 50 percent to 100 per cent and sometimes 150 per cent.

Rice for example, of which the United States imported about 400,000,000 pounds from China and Japan in 1918, cost in the country of production 7.2 cents per pound for that imported in December 1918 as against 2.6 cents per pound for that imported in the month preceding the war, July 1914. Nitrate of soda, drawn chiefly from Chile, for which the war demands ceased at the date of the Armistice, cost in the country of production $57.40 per ton for that imported in May 1919 against $26.65 per ton for that imported in the month preceding the war. Raw silk, of which we obtain our entire supply from China and Japan, cost in those countries an average of $6.12 per pound for the imports of the closing month of the war, and $3.84 per pound in the month preceding the war. Wood pulp bleached, chiefly from Canada and not produced in the war countries, cost in the country of production $160 per ton for the quantity imported into the United States in January 1919 against $49 for that imported in the month preceding the war. Goat skins imported from China, India, Mexico, and South American cost in those countries an average of 62.8 cents per pound for those reaching the United States in May 1919 against 24.5 cents per pound for those imported from the same countries in the month preceding the war. Flaxseed, imported chiefly from Argentina and not an article demanded for war purposes, cost in the country of production $3 per bushel for that reaching us in January 1919 against $1.47 per bushel paid for that imported in July 1914. Matings for floors, imported chiefly from Japan and China, cost in the countries of production 26.4 cents per sq. yard for the quantities which reached us in July 1914. Jute, imported from India, cost in that country $172.75 per ton for the quantity imported into the United States in March 1919 against $49.56 per ton for that imported in the month preceding the opening of the war.

Curiously too, the prices of many articles continue to advance without reference to the fact that the war has terminated. Of the seventy-five articles named by the Department of Commerce as "Principal Articles Imported" more than one-half of these entering the United States in May 1919 actually showed higher prices in the country of production than the prices of the same articles imported in the closing month of the war, and coming from the same country.

"The Veiled Adventure."

At the very finish of the plot in the new Select comedy plus drama, "The Veiled Adventure," starring Constance Talmadge, in which she is presented by Lewis J. Selznick and which can be seen tonight at the Princess Theatre, is a scene which is bound to put the house into an uproar.

The lovely Constance, playing the role of Geraldine Baker, a young society girl, has just met her lover on the seashore and in a very romantic scene which thrills with emotion, she has promised to become his wife and, to use the expression of a motion picture fan, "they go to clinch for the final close-up."

The scene now changes to an old fisherman, who is sitting on the beach under the brilliant light of the full moon, and watching with the greatest interest the events just described. His fishing-pole jerks, but even the thought of a fish on his line cannot distract him from the object of his attention. He feels his line pulled taut, and without turning his head, impatiently mutters, "Gosh, I wish he'd kiss her, so I could pull in my fish!"

The scene again changes, showing the two lovers leaning toward each other, preparing to kiss. A flash-back to the old fisherman's watching face shows that they have kissed. He smiles and pulls in his fish.

The picture was directed by Walter Edwards and James C. Van Trees is responsible for the excellent photography. Julia Crawford Ivers wrote the original story and also the continuity. Miss Talmadge is supported by an excellent cast, including her popular leading man, Harrison Ford.

MARTIAL LAW IS DECLARED

Polish and German Troops Clash in Upper Silesia

(By United Press.)

Berlin, Aug. 20.—Martial law was declared in upper Silesia today as a result of the clash between German and Polish forces. German government representatives declared that so far fifteen Germans had been killed. Chancellor Bauer told the assembly at Weimar today that the Polish government was not implicated in the attack, saying the soldiers were not regulars. The German command was in control of the situation, he said.

McCloskey with not a cent in his clothes, thought of a new one. He ran into Caskey's saloon barking wildly: "Woof! Woof! Whiskey! For the love of heaven! Woof! Woof! I've been bit by a mad dog." The alarmed and surprised and considerate bartender skated a full quart toward him and McCloskey swallowed four fingers and a wrist and ran out barking, "Woof! Woof!"

Within two hours he imposed upon seven different saloons and then erred grievously. He "doubled" on his route. The first victim-barkeeper heard him coming with his bark and within ten seconds McCloskey had been whaled over the head and thrown out in the street. A stray dog, a real dog, looking for entertainment and bones, came near him and sniffed, and then saluted: "Woof! A-Woof!" McCloskey opened a battered eye, shook his head negatively and said:

"Cut it out pup! They're on to us."

Do your Jams and Jellies ever "Candy"?

Many women have been so discouraged by this trouble that they have almost stopped putting up fruit.

Yet, there is an easy, simple way to avoid it. Use  $\frac{1}{2}$  Karo (Red Label) and  $\frac{1}{2}$  sugar in your preserving syrup, instead of sugar alone.

Karo is a fine, clear syrup, with a natural affinity for the juices of the fruit.

It blends the sugar with the fruit juice—brings out all the "fruity" flavor.

You, too, will obtain perfect results this summer if you will use  $\frac{1}{2}$  Karo (Red Label) and  $\frac{1}{2}$  sugar instead of all sugar for preserving.

You will find your jelly clear and firm—your preserves rich with heavy syrup—your jams deliciously mellow and "fruity". Not a sign of "candyng".

For Cooking, Baking and Candy-Making Karo (Red Label) is used in millions of homes. In all cooking and baking recipes use Karo instead of sugar. It is sweet, of delicate flavor, and brings out the natural flavor of the food.

Big Lot of Hay Fever Jokes

But Kentucky Man Says—"People Who Belong to Hay Fever Colony are Kidding Themselves."

Wouldn't Be Any Rose or Hay Fever if Simple Home Remedy Was Given a Chance.

"Yes, there's a real NINETY-NINE per cent effective remedy for hay or rose fever," frankly states a druggist in a prosperous Kentucky city. "But I don't expect anyone to believe me, because the treatment is so easy and the cost not worth mentioning."

"The annual crop of hay-fever jokes would be mighty scarce if people would get an ounce of Mentholized Arcline and by just adding water that has been boiled make a pint of liquid that will prove a real help to all who suffer."

"Many of my hay-fever friends tell me that by starting to gargle and sniff or spray the nostrils a few times a day the expected severe attack often fails to appear and in cases where it does show up is very mild and does not annoy."

"The Better Class of Pharmacists" who dispense Mentholized Arcline say it will greatly modify any attack even when taken three or four days after hostilities begin.

Go to a real live druggist when you get ready to make a pint.

You can have nerves of steel, firm step, new courage and keep mind by putting your blood and nerves in first-class shape with mighty Bio-Feren, a new discovery, inexpensive and efficient.

Men and women who get up so tired in the morning that they have to drag themselves to their daily labor will in just a few days arise with clear mind, definite purpose and loads of ambition. All you have to do is to take two Bio-Feren tablets after each meal and one at bedtime—7 a day for 7 days—then reduce to one after each meal until all are gone.

Then if your energy and endurance haven't doubled, if your mind isn't keener and eyes brighter, if you don't feel twice as ambitious as before, any druggist anywhere will return the purchase price—gladly and freely.

Bio-Feren is without doubt the grandest remedy for nervous, run-down, weak, anaemic men and women ever offered and is not at all expensive. All druggists in this city and vicinity have a supply on hand—sell many packages.

ENGLAND NEEDS NEW STATESMEN

War Has Shown the Weaknesses of the Country's Politicians and a Change is in Sight

THEY NEED THREE THINGS.

First, a Man, Then a Party and Finally a Policy for the Party and Man to Work on London, (By Mail).—The war has proved a fatal melting-pot to many world institutions, but nowhere has its effect been more marked than in British politics. America and the rest of the world would do well to watch closely the rapidly changing aspects of the situation, for all the old parties are being made over, many favorite policies are being scrapped, and many of the old leaders jettisoned, having failed to test true in the fire of war and reconstruction.

British politicians and the voters are now searching for three things: A MAN—Wanted by the old parties as a leader.

A PARTY—Wanted by several self-styled "men".

A POLICY—Wanted by the parties, the would-be men, and the general public. And here is where the rest of the world becomes interested, for it is an on-looker.

The number of possible candidates for the first job is remarkably small. The average citizen would tell you, most likely, that there is only one—David Lloyd George, the "little Welsh wizard" who received such an extraordinary national welcome on his return from the conference table at Paris. But Lloyd George would be the first to admit that he is no stranger to the other side of political fame, and for some years before the war he was probably the most bitterly cursed man in England. Nineteen years ago he had to flee for his life, disguised in a policeman's uniform, to escape a "patriotic" mob who resented his championship of the Boer farmers with whom Great Britain was then at war.

Lloyd George is the one outstanding character in British political life to-day, and by sheer hard work, flashes of intuitive genius and personal magnetism he has lined up practically the whole country behind him.

But what he needs is a party. Formerly leader of the radical wing of the Liberal party, he automatically succeeded H. H. Asquith in the party favor, when the latter was compelled to resign the premiership, and the coalition government was formed by Lloyd George in 1916. The coalition has served its purpose and like most such temporary expedients shows signs of early disruption. Who is Lloyd George going to lead then? is the question agitating politicians.

The old Liberal and Conservative parties have suffered too many casualties to be able to set up in business again. The Conservatives have their own little "tin gods", and will not adopt Lloyd George. What the majority of the old Liberals will do is a puzzle. Although no longer in Parliament (he was overwhelmed in the election just before Christmas) Herbert H. Asquith is still the leader of a bunch of Liberals, who now politically unimportant are contemptuously styled the "Wee Frees". Asquith is a dead-letter, but he can still rob Lloyd George of some supporters.

The Conservatives are nominally united under Andrew Bonar Law, but Law apparently does not aspire to be the MAN the country is advertising for. He was only a stop-gap alternative, when elected to succeed Arthur James Balfour in the party leadership in 1911—a buffer between the irreconcilable factions rooting for Austen Chamberlain and Walter Hume Long respectively. He has proven himself a capable and conscientious statesman, but he lacks personal magnetism indispensable for a great party leader. The remainder of the Conservative leaders may be eliminated from the contest, Chamberlain and Long being relegated to the "have-beens" and Balfour desirous of retiring from political life on account of his great age.

The only two serious rivals to Lloyd George in the personality contest are Winston S. Churchill, at present War Secretary, and Robert Smillie miners' leader and uncrowned king of British labor. Both have the magnetic gift, and both will go far, according to the prophets and close observers. If he had never taken over the War Office in the coalition government, Churchill might have successfully challenged Lloyd George for the leadership of the combined Liberal and Labor parties, but his handling of demobilization and the Russian expedition has aroused bitter resentment among laborites and a section of the Liberal party. That Churchill will be Premier of England some day is certain, declare most experts, but he will probably have to lie low for a bit.

Smillie is the "dark horse". He is not a new man, but his parliamentary career has been brief and obscure, for he has generally been defeated in typical Scotch labor constituencies by his own countrymen, who nevertheless gave him full power to bargain for them industrially. Since he has been president of the Miners' Federation of Great Britain, he has been easily the outstanding figure in the labor world. The favorites then, for Prime Minister are, David Lloyd George, Winston Churchill and Robert Smillie. It might be said that Smillie's party is obviously ready made—the Labor Party, but that is not so, for he has had a curious sequence of parliamentary defeats.

For Lloyd George and Churchill there is a billet offered. A new organization, the Center Party has arisen, a combination of progressive liberals and Conservatives, and Lloyd George and Churchill would appear to be the natural leaders. Overtures have been made, but although it is said that Churchill is willing, Lloyd George has "nothing to say". Doubtless they are sizing up the situation and weighing their prospects of success.

DISTRIBUTION MUST BE BASED ON '18 LEVY

Attorney General Gives School Tuition Opinion For Benefit of Township Trustees

NO H. S. TRANSPORTATION

Ele Stansbury, attorney-general of Indiana, in two opinions submitted to L. N. Hines, state superintendent of public instruction, has held that the 1918 local tuition fees and not the 1919 levies should be the basis of deficiency fund distributions this school year and that township trustees should not transport high school pupils.

Regarding the deficiency fund distribution basis the attorney-general wrote:

"If such school corporations in 1918 made the required levy for supplementary tuition when they are entitled to draw from the deficiency emergency fund for deficiencies occurring in the school year of 1919-1920. If they make the levy of 1919 required by Section 4 of the act of 1919 they will be entitled, if a deficiency exists in the school year of 1920-1921 to draw from such emergency fund."

In the matter of transportation of pupils the attorney-general did not question the transportation of elementary school pupils and in interpreting the 1919 school transfer act held that it applied only to them.

Mrs. Will Norris entertained several members of the Thursday Afternoon Bridge club, of which she was formerly a member, and several other guests, at her home south of Carthage, yesterday afternoon, complimentary to Mrs. Francis Moor of Chicago, who also belonged to the club when she resided here. A fried chicken dinner was served to the seven guests at six o'clock.

Honoring Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Saniter and daughter Janet of Brooklyn, N. Y., Mrs. Mary Poston entertained last evening with a beautifully appointed dinner, at her country home southwest of Rushville. Besides the honored guests Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Norris and daughters Helen and Rena May and son Franklin, Miss Leonora Norris and George and Estella Poston were present.

An important business meeting of the Loyal Daughters class of the Main Street Christian Sunday school was held yesterday evening at the home of Mrs. Clifford Hardwick in East Seventh street. About twenty members were present for the session, and Mrs. Hardwick was assisted by Miss Dora Winkler and Mrs. Gibson Ross. The next meeting will be held in about two weeks at the home of Mrs. Wilbur Wilson.

Mrs. Nellie Abercrombie entertained with an elaborate six o'clock dinner yesterday evening at her home in West Fourth street. Lilies and carnations formed the centerpiece for the table and potted ferns were used in the decorations. The guests included Mrs. Charles Schattner of Cour d'Alene, Idaho, Mrs. Joseph Schattner of Indianapolis, Thomas G. Page of Chicago, and Mrs. Oliver O'Brien and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schattner of this city.

Sixteen members and two visitors were in attendance at the August meeting of the Sexton Woman's Home Missionary society meeting, which was held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Carol Clifton. Mrs. Will Wright conducted the Bible study, for which the subject was "Jesus in the Mountains." Mrs. Vera Warrick gave a beautiful reading dealing with conditions among the mountaineers. Mrs. Howard Steele conducted the Bible questions and Mrs. Frances Kendall the Hidden Answers. Mrs. Marion Pratt's name was added to the society's membership list and five World Call subscriptions were received.

Mrs. Jake Austen was present and gave a very interesting talk. Late in the afternoon the hostess served light refreshments. The September meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Elsworth Kiser.

obligation" that might be even stronger than a legal promise.

Pressed for a more exact definition by committee members who insisted that the "whole arrangement was a rope of sand," he asserted that on the contrary he regards it as placing the nations in "an attitude of comradeship and protection" that would compel respect for the principles of justice and liberty.

Article X of the covenant guaranteeing the integrity of league members against aggression, he declared, would give each nation "complete freedom of choice as to the application of force." Even if the American representative on the council joined in a unanimous recommendation for military action the final decision for peace or war must rest so far as concerned the United States with the congress, he said.

Whatever advice the council gave under its authority to take such action as it "deemed appropriate" must also be deemed appropriate by the United States to be binding on this government, he argued though in the background would be such a potential moral force that he doubted whether the nation would often decline to act.

The President revealed that Japan's promise to return Shantung province to China was reduced to written form in the minutes of the peace conference. He asserted he had "every confidence" that the promise would be carried out and told the senators it was "the best that could be got" out of the negotiations. Japan having given notice she would withdraw from the conference if her demands were refused.

The American delegates, he said, had tried to keep the nation free from obligations in European affairs "so far as it was honorably possible to do so," but he asserted that it might be necessary to keep some American troops in the Rhine district under the treaty for the next fifteen years.

He declared the nation would be its own sole judge whether its obligations had been fulfilled under the disputed withdrawal clause of the league covenant; that purely domestic questions were safe from the league's interference; and that

Refreshingly New Suits, Dresses

To be becomingly clad in Autumn styles in August is now the vogue. Why not be among those to don the new garments while they are at their newest? As clothes are undeniably a big part in life today, they should be chosen with exacting care. The garments that we show are selected on the premises where they are made and American styles are created, hence they are authoritatively correct. Only garments of distinction and intrinsic worth find a place in our cases. For these reasons, if for no other

Mr. Wilson revealed that he had suggested the United States take no part of the German reparation, but had asked that the conference reserve disposition of the German Pacific island of Yap on a suggestion that it was needed for an American naval station.

The real profiteers in the sugar were not Sam Finney or the local grocers, but the Kenny Company who were increasing their price from time to time while it was on hand and in storage. Prosecutor Stevens said that the Kenny Company was violating the food control act, in as much as they had shipped it here for the purpose of hoarding and increasing the price.

from Ft. Bliss, near El Paso, were to augment the air protection of the 8th cavalry in Mexico today.

The rains last night are believed to have wiped out the trails of the bandits, but it was not without its advantages, however, for the softened conditions of the earth would make fresh trails, more easily discernable than the trails made previous to the rains.

The American troops in their dash across the border were spread out in a fan-shaped formation over a wide stretch of Mexican country south of the Rio Grande.

With nearly six hours' start on the punitive expedition, the bandits are believed to have scattered in the mountain passes and canyons, and it probably will be necessary to search every square mile of the rough country below the border to find them, in the opinion of military men.

It was not known how many are in the bandit band. Lieutenant Davis and Lieutenant Peterson said that they saw six men. There were twenty other bandits at the ranch where the outlaws stopped. The American aviators were told that the band numbered sixty.

Arrangements for nurses, ambulances and surgical dressings for the punitive expedition troops were made last night by Elmer Donnell, of St. Louis, for use in case of emergency.

H. M. Fennell, a banker of this city, arrived late yesterday and announced that the amount of ransom actually paid for release of the aviators was $8,500. Fennell took the $15,000 demanded to Candelaria Monday.

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

The Ford Sedan, with electric self-starting and lighting system and demountable rims with 3½-inch tires front and rear, for every day in the year has no equal as a family car. Just as popular on the farm as it is in the city. In fact, it fits the family demands in every vocation of life. Large, roomy seats, finely upholstered, plate glass windows make it an open car in pleasant weather, while in rainy and inclement weather it becomes a closed car, dust-proof and rain-proof. It is not only comfortable, but really cozy, and above all, economical in operation and maintenance, and has all the Ford merits of strength and durability.

His Record is Shaking Hands Three Times in One Minute

Harvey Allen, Who Spent Twenty Months in France, Tells of Eccentricities of French People, and of Their Queer Customs, Some of Which Americans Held Inviolable.

Harvey Allen who spent twenty months in France in the civilian mail service, had an opportunity to observe the habits and customs of the French people, and in the appended article, he tells of many which seemed peculiar to Americans, some of which were held inviolable and others were disregarded:

"The French have a custom of shaking hands that is hard to beat. My record is shaking hands with the same man three times in one minute. You shake when you meet and again when you leave, no matter how many times a day you meet.

"The most striking thing in France is the amount of work done by women and in war time it was even more so. They sweep the streets, drive wagons and carts, saw and split wood, pack it in baskets and carry it up several flights of winding stairs, carry heavy loads in baskets on their backs, work in the fields, carry the produce to market, in the city haul coal and carry it into the cellar in sacks or up the stairs as the case may require. They have always done this hard labor but since the war their burden has been heavy.

"When I first saw Paris not a single tramway, bus or subway conductor was a man but now a few men are back on the job. The great number of women in mourning is appalling—more so a year ago than now. Not all of them were widows though. Mourning is worn by sisters, daughters, mothers and sweethearts as well as the widows.

"There is one woman in Langres who has lost six sons, equalling Mrs. Bixby. I am well acquainted with a family there of six sons. Two are dead and one was a prisoner in Germany for four years. All were French officers. One son was killed and another captured in the same battle on the same day and the captain who was captured did not know of his two brothers being killed or the natural death of his father until he was released after the armistice.

"Imagine the wife having to tell him all this sad news, when she met him for the first time in Switzerland. I afterwards met this captain and he acted to me like a lion in a cage—very restless and does not know what to do with himself. His sister told me he will never be the same again.

"The wife undoubtedly is the saddest woman I ever met. She lived in Dayton, Ohio, for three years and speaks good English. I knew a French soldier who had won the Croix de Guerre and had several citations—two of them palms, which means he had been cited twice before the whole French army. This "poilu" had not seen his family since the war began. They were in the occupied territory, he knew not where, and did not know whether they were dead or alive.

"Imagine the feelings of this poor soul, a wife and two daughters about ten and twelve years of age. At one time he was on the front not many miles from his home and had to fire in the direction of his loved ones.

"At hotels in small towns a very good meal costs four francs or about 70 cents. I stayed at a hotel for eight months and my two meals each day cost six francs or a few cents over a dollar. Soup, two vegetables, two kinds of meat or one meat and one fish, and always cheese.

"It was required that we either give bread tickets or furnish our own bread. When we furnished our own bread we were paid for what it cost us at the commissary. In Paris I used bread tickets all together. You could get a meal without them, but it was not right to do so. France is not a desolate waste as some people think. However, they ask you to eat all you want, but not to take on your plate more than you will eat, and waste absolutely nothing. I could 'lick the platter clean' and became a regular 'plate polisher.'

"The French have many strange America must adopt sooner or later—Waste nothing. They even save the small twigs of trees which are cut down. These are tied into bundles and saved for kindling or the making of rough brooms.

The French have many strange customs which many Americans broke and objected to. One is the closing of the store or shop during the noon hour and taking the door knob off while the place was closed. It takes an hour and a half for each meal, and this also got on the nerves of the Americans. No 'dairy lunches' or three minute affairs there.

"It is a time honored custom in France when starting on a journey to go early to the station, where the train is waiting, and select a seat, place your baggage or hat on the cushions and when the train starts out, occupy it, but the Americans or other allied soldiers come along, dump the baggage on the floor or push it to one side and proceed to violate an age-long custom. The French being set in their ways, object very seriously and rightly to some 'foreigner' breaking their customs.

"Another old custom is that of protecting the ground floor window with shutters. Many different kinds are in evidence, but the most used are the rolling type, similar to the rolling curtains in some of our churches and schools. All stores, shops and residences are thus equipped. It was necessary during the 'dark ages' to protect their property in this manner to prevent bands of robbers and brigands from taking all they had. The danger passed a hundred years or more ago but the custom of locking up tight at six o'clock each day remains.

Another custom much violated by Americans was the scorning of

Can Get a Milk Such as Millions Cannot Get
The Finest Milk Ever Used

Milk of Double Richness

Evaporated by Low Heat

Sterilized After Sealing

From Healthy High-Bred Cows Regularly Inspected

Model Sanitary Dairies

"The Cow in the Pantry"

The homes of this city can now get Van Camp's Milk—the best milk produced in America.

We cannot supply—and never can—more than one home in a hundred. So we offer it here in our home state. The grocers of this city will be kept supplied. We have seven model condenseries, all in famous dairying districts. Each day we milk 45,000 cows. But milk of this grade, from high-bred cows, will always be somewhat limited.

A 20-Year Development

About 20 years ago we started out to produce the utmost in rich, safe, cleanly milk. Some of the ablest experts in this line—foreign and American—have been employed to help us. Van Camp's Milk comes from healthy cows of the finest breeds. It has taken us years to accumulate them. Those cows are kept in sanitary dairies. They are regularly inspected.

The cows are milked close to our condenseries. The fresh, warm milk is then placed in a vacuum. There, by low heat, more than half the water is evaporated.

The milk is then a double-rich milk, as thick as thick cream. It is twice as rich as bottled milk, both in butter fat and solids.

Van Camp's Milk

The Best Milk Produced in America

Sterilized and Safe

After this milk is hermetically sealed it is sterilized by heat. Thus it comes to you a germ-free milk, safe for drinking, safe for infants.

The dangers which lurk in ordinary milk are absent in Van Camp's.

If you want very thick cream use Van Camp's as it is. For coffee, cereals and ice cream it can even be diluted. To reduce to rich milk add an equal part of water. Just replace what we take out.

For cooking reduce still further. For every purpose you get full-cream milk when you use Van Camp's.

No Shortage—No Waste

This ideal milk, rich, cleanly, safe, costs you less than bottled milk. In addition it saves all waste. You don't need to guess at your daily wants. You never have too much milk or too little.

Small cans and large cans are kept ever on the shelf. Open what you need.

Thus you have both milk and cream for any purpose in any quantity. Never more than you need, never less than you need. That reduces milk cost to the minimum.

Compare Van Camp's with the milk you use—with bottled milk or with other evaporated. See what we have accomplished. Tell your grocer—now, before you forget—to send a few cans of Van Camp's.

"Your money's worth or your money back"

change. If an article purchased cost eighty-five centimes, they refused the change of three sous and left it on the counter, saying they did not want to be bothered with 'Clackers' as we called them. To the French shop keeper this was astonishing, at first, because the French merchant class are very particular about change and giving the exact amount and also they count their sous to the very last. I have seen them argue for several minutes over four sous on a restaurant bill. They always figure their bill from the menu. The 'rich Americans' as they called us, scorned such things as a few pennies and as a result prices advanced.

"Another custom in which the American 'spilled the beans' was the giving of tips. It is an inviolable custom to give a ten per cent, tip and cut the extra sous. For example, your meal comes to eighty francs. You give a fifty centime tip and not eighty. But again the 'rich American' hands the waiter a ten franc bill and tells him to keep the change. I have on innumerable occasions seen American officers and enlisted men give two and three times as much tip as was required by custom. This created a very bad impression among the French people. It is also considered by the French people a very bad practice to tell a shop keeper that his wares are not high prices. The prevailing custom always is to ask him for a lower price on the article you intend to purchase and to bargain with him.

"But the American comes in, asks the price, as he would at home, and in addition says that the article he intends to purchase is 'not dear' and again 'spills the beans.'

One beautiful custom the Americans did not violate; in fact, hundreds of them adopted it as their own. It is the respect for the dead. At a funeral in France the family and friends walk behind the hearse to the church and from there to the cemetery. Every

FRENCH AIR MEN GET GOOD PLACES

Experiences They Had Dropping Bombs Qualifies Them to be Mail and Road Construction Bosses

THUS MUCH TIME IS SAVED

Can View the Contemplated Territory From the Air, Finding Places in Which to Build Roads.

(By United Press.)

Paris, (By Mail)—Bringing down Boche aeroplanes and dropping bombs on German railroads are excellent training for construction bosses. At least so says Mr. Henri Bouche, Paris contractor, who advocates the employment of France's Air Force in aiding the reconstruction projects in Northern France.

According to Mr. Bouche aviators can immensely facilitate the following three phases of the work:

(1) Obtaining valuation of damages.

(2) Planning the reconstruction work.

(3) Supervising actual rebuilding. Taking a census of the damages will be a work involving innumerable physical obstacles if undertaken only by inspectors on the ground. Bouche points out that aviators, unhampered by the impassibility of the roads and trench-lined fields, can easily reconnoiter the whole front, take pictures when necessary, and in a few hours accomplish what it would take months to do by any other means.

Attacking the reconstruction problem, says Bouche, will be not unlike attacking an opposing army. At first the reconnoissance must be made, exact knowledge obtained of conditions prevailing, whether it be an army or an immense waste that is to be attacked. Just as the fliers used to look for German batteries they must now seek out ruined towns, destroyed bridges and shell ridden fields.

Thus by gathering photographic records of the ruined areas aviators can assist the evaluation of damages upon which the reparation figures are to be based.

Then when the amount of damages has been determined, the aviators can be assigned the task of planning the reconstructions. Being able to gain both a mental and visual perspective of the task, they can draw up the plans for rebuilding the vast waste area.

Finally, the actual supervising of the work can best be carried on from the air. Just as the aviators used to report the results of the artillery fire, they can in the future report the daily progress of the various rebuilding projects. In this manner a real coordination can be obtained and the work carried out along really comprehensive lines.

The rear fenders are new in design, with touring car running boards. Top, window casings and sashes, are fully metal covered, eliminating the possibility of checks and open joints.

The deeply upholstered interior is finished in a new and improved fabric, without bindings. Back of the driver's seat is a carrying space, with another in the rear deck. Electric side lamps are mounted on the cowl and a dome illuminates the interior. The double-latch doors may be locked from the outside.

His Record is Shaking Hands Three Times in One Minute

Frenchman from the lowest class of worker, in passing the funeral cortege, removes his hat out of respect for the corpse. Soldiers always pass at salute and many of the Americans accepted this custom as their own and saluted also. The French respect for the dead almost reaches a superstition. The period of mourning after a death in the family extends always a year and often times longer. The women wear crepe veils and the men wear a black brassard on the left arm.

"Because of this custom the American graves in France, especially those in French cemeteries and the smaller cemeteries, are cared for by some French family, they having adopted a grave and look after its up-keep and see that flowers are placed on it at regular intervals. At Suresnes, where President Wilson made his Memorial Day address, single graves are not adopted, but the women of this suburb of Paris spend a great deal of their time keeping flowers on the graves. This is quite a large cemetery and will be a beautiful place some day when the grass and shrubbery is fully grown. The same is true of the cemetery at Bouresches, near Belleau Wood. These are the only large cemeteries. I presume the others are well kept. In fact, the graves registration service are vying with each other as to which outfit will have the neatest cemetery.

JAPAN IS READY TO WELCOME NEW IDEALS

So-Called Ideas Are Prevalent in Restricted Section of Society And Not Dangerous

DANGER OF BEING INFECTED

(By United Press.)

Tokyo, (By Mail.)—Japan is all in readiness to welcome the new ideals of the world developed by the war. Japanese opposition to introduction of the ideas that changed world conditions have created would take the country back into feudal days, according to M. Nakubashi, minister of education.

The propaganda of democratic ideals which the war has brought in its train has given an impetus to the rise of new ideas in Japan, where freedom of thought has long been subject to regulations. This is a satisfactory sign of the times. It must be remembered, however, that bad as well as good ideas are apt to find their way here. As the constitutional ideas of the people are still undeveloped, there is danger of their becoming contaminated with radical ideas.

In my opinion the so-called new ideas are prevalent only in a restricted section of society and are not so dangerous as some fear. If influx of all foreign ideas is to be prohibited, owing to their possible baneful nature, that will mean reversion to the feudal days when Japan was isolated from foreign intercourse and the import of all foreign ideas was zealously guarded.

These Tires Are a Revelation

The Brunswick is frankly a combination of the best in tire building.

There is one tread that's supreme beyond question. And that is now on Brunswicks.

There is one side-wall construction, which, by every test, holds the summit place for endurance. And that one was adopted for Brunswicks.

Fabrics differ — up to 30 per cent — in their strength tests. On Brunswicks the maximum long-fiber is the standard.

There are certain additions, each one expensive, which add vastly to tire mileage. The Brunswick embodies all these extras.

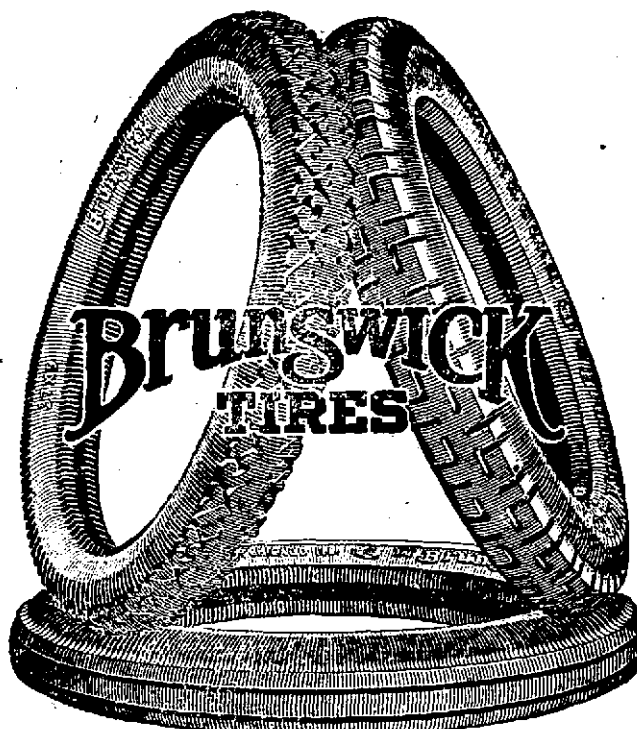

There are no patents, no secret formulas to prevent any maker from building the best. It is simply a question of knowledge and skill — cost plus care.

Brunswick standards are known the world over. The very name certifies an extraordinary tire. Yet Brunswicks cost no more than like-type tires.

Buy ONE Brunswick. It will prove that a better tire cannot be bought, regardless of price.

Scorched!

It will happen at times under the eyes, even of the most responsible of "home cleaners."

It may be an overheated iron, or momentary forgetfulness—but the damage is done. The garment may be scorched beyond all further usefulness. At the very least a mark is left that no washing can ever erase. Such scorching occurs in the home because irons must be heated by fire and electricity that attain high temperatures.

But it can not take place when you send your garments to us.

Our presses are heated by steam which never becomes hot enough to scorch. If you were to hold a gossamer silk over the steaming spout of your hot water kettle, the steam would not damage the fabric. The same methods are used by us.

With its help we are able to give a beautiful lustre to your work with never a brown-tinted scar to mar it. Garments are thoroughly dry cleaned by us and then given over to the steam presser, which insures the best of work.
